I am thinking a lot about the future of our flagship journal lately, and I hope that many of you are too. Eighteenth-Century Studies has been a beacon of scholarship for me from the beginning of my career, and it was an honor and a thrill to see it come to Yale, headquartered at the Lewis Walpole Library in Farmington, CT. The Editor, in the second year of his five-year term (2012-2017), is Steven Pincus, Bradford Durfee Professor of History and Co-Director of the Center for Historical Enquiry and the Social Sciences (CHESS). The Managing Editor is Dr. Sarah Kinkel, Postdoctoral Associate of the European Studies Council. The Executive Director of the Lewis Walpole Library is Margaret K. Powell, and she and her staff are generously providing infrastructural, intellectual, and moral support for ECS. Two Provosts—Peter Salovey, now Yale’s President, and Benjamin Polak, his successor—authorized the funding. They did so during a time of across-the-board budget cuts, post-2008, when it would have been understandable for them to have said no. Fortunately, they said yes. It is now sentimentally appealing, for me at least, to see the journal’s offices nestled securely in “The Lewis-Cowles House” (c. 1784), where Wilmarth Lewis amassed his remarkable collection of Walpoliana, developed the proto-cybernetic “Farmington System” of cross-referencing (adopted by the OSS in WWII), and edited the 48-volume Yale Edition of Horace Walpole’s Correspondence (1937-1983).

As members of ASECS, however, you need to know that it was a close-run thing. With Julia Simon’s distinguished term as Editor expiring on July 1, 2012, there were no viable proposals before the Executive Board for moving ECS from the University of California, Davis. Nor was it certain until June of that year that Yale would be able to put one on the table. All the pieces of the puzzle—including a willing Editor, the Managing Editor’s position, the physical location and technical support—had to come together at the eleventh hour. Fortunately, they did. But it’s not too early to start planning a more deliberate ramp-up for the next move, with all the arrangements for the succession firmly in place at least a year (or two) in advance, insuring a smooth transition.

Meanwhile, there are some new editorial procedures at ECS that need to be brought to the attention of the membership. In addition to encouraging individual submissions of articles for consideration, Steve Pincus has introduced a process for the regular creation of special issues on topics of current interest and future promise. The Lewis Walpole Library and the Beinecke Rare Book and Manuscript Library have agreed to alternate in sponsoring Workshops in a particular interdisciplinary subfield. Scholars prominent in that field are invited to Farmington or the Yale campus to spend a day sharing their expertise and identifying potential contributors to a special issue. Workshops in three topics have been held so far: “The Eighteenth Century: East and West”; “The Maritime Eighteenth Century”; and “Performance in the Eighteenth Century.” On February 23, 2013, the Walpole Library hosted a panel consisting of Felicity Nussbaum (English, UCLA), Robert K. Batchelor (History, Georgia Southern University), David Porter (English and Comparative Literature, University of Michigan), and Peter Perdue (History, Yale University). They identified key issues and trends, profiled new work in the field by both well established and emerging scholars, and made recommendations. After a process of further vetting, solicitation, and review, the East-West special issue (forthcoming) will be introduced by Chi-ming Yang (English, University of Pennsylvania) and contain the following articles: Danna Agmon (History, Virginia Tech), “The Currency of Kinship: Trading Families and Trading on Family in Colonial French India”; Srinivas Aravamudan (English, Duke), “East-West Fiction as World Literature: The Hayy Problem Reconfigured”; Kristina Kleutghen (Art History, Washington University in St. Louis), “Ocean Goods and Occidenterie: The Art of Eighteenth-Century Chinese Fascination with the West”; Suzanne Marchand (History, Louisiana State University) Herder’s “Oldest Document of Mankind” and the Problem of Near Eastern Chronology”; Nabil Matar (English, University of Minnesota), “Christians in Arabic Writings of the Eighteenth-Century Levant”; and Matthew Mosca (History, William and Mary), “The Qing State and Its Awareness of Eurasian Interconnections, 1789-1805.” On May 23, 2013, the Beinecke Library hosted a panel on “The Maritime Eighteenth Century” consisting of Joseph C. Miller (History, University of Virginia), Neil Rennie (English, University College London), Felicia Gottmann (French, University of Warwick), Ellie Hughes (Art History, Yale Center for British Art), and Gagan Sood (History, Yale University). Plans for the special issue on “The Maritime Eighteenth Century” are pending. On October 17, 2013, the Lewis Walpole Library hosted a panel on “Performance in the Eighteenth Century” consisting of Misty Anderson (English and Theatre, University of Tennessee Knoxville), Jeffrey Leichman (French, Louisiana State University); Kathleen Wilson (History and Cultural Studies, Stony Brook University), John Cooper (Clare-Mellon Fellow in the History of Art, Yale University) and Will Fleming (East Asian Languages and Literature and Theater Studies, Yale University). Virginia Johnson (Sociology, University of Michigan) was unable to attend, but she is communicating her views in writing. Plans for the “Performance” special issue are in the early stages. With the cooperation with Carolyn C. Guile, ECS Review Editor, special issues will include reviews of pertinent new work on the featured topics. Members are encouraged to propose ideas for future special issues, including nominations for Workshop panelists and potential contributors. The Editor and Managing Editor held a session for interested scholars at the recent NEASECS Conference in New Haven, and a dynamic critical conversation ensued. More will be welcome, live or electronic. Looking even further ahead, but still just over the horizon, members are also encouraged to identify potential Editors who work at institutions that might be willing to host and support Eighteenth-Century Studies beginning in 2017. It belongs to all of us.

ASECS Executive Board Nominations

Listed below are the names of those submitted by the Nominating Committee who agreed to run and serve, if elected: Candiate for President: Kathleen Wilson
Candidate for Vice-President: Srinivas Aravamudan
Candidates for Second Vice-President: Dena Goodman
Patrick Coleman
Laura Auricchio
Bruce Allen Brown
Andrew Curran
Jens Poulsen
Julia Simon

Members in good standing (dues current) may make nominations for the ASECS Executive Board as outlined in the Constitution:

Section 5. Nominations by petition for the offices stipulated in Section 3 (We have listed below) shall be made by members in good standing to the Executive Director amply in advance of the Annual Meeting, as stipulated in the Bylaws. A petition to be valid shall contain the signatures of at least twenty members in good standing and must be accompanied by a statement from the nominee declaring a willingness to serve if elected.

Section 3. Nominations may be made by the Committee or by petition according to the following procedure:

The Nominating Committee, having ascertained the willingness of each nominee to serve if elected, shall each make two nominations for each vacancy among the additional members of the Executive Board and for the office of Second Vice President with due regard to the distribution of disciplines as specified in Article V, Section 5, and Article VI, Section 2, above. The Nominating Committee shall nominate the First Vice President for President and the Second Vice President for First Vice President if each consents to serve.

Whenever the First Vice President does not consent to serve as President, the Second Vice President, if he/ she consents, shall be nominated for President and the Nominating Committee shall make two additional nominations for the office of First Vice President. Whenever the Second Vice President does not consent to serve as First Vice President, the Nominating Committee shall also make two nominations for the office of First Vice President.

Bylaw 7. Nominations shall be made according to the following procedures:

(b) As provided in Article VII, Section 5, nominations by petition for officers shall be made to the Executive Director at least 65 days prior to the Annual Meeting (Article VII, Section 5).

Given the stipulation, nominations by petition must be received by the Business Office by January 24.

In Memoriam

JIM MOODY

On October 9, 2013, James Andrew Moody, 65, passed away as a result of esophageal cancer. Jim, as he was affectionately known to many, was as an integral contributor to East-Central American Society for Eighteenth Century Studies; most recently, he served in the role of Webmaster.

Born in South Hampton, England, he and wife Ellen immigrated to the United States in 1970. Here, after achieving an MPhil in Mathematics and teaching at Hunter College, he chose to pursue a career as a computer scientist working for the Defense Department. After retiring, he returned to academia, teaching part-time at George Mason University until his full retirement.
In his spare time, Jim enjoyed travel, cooking, opera, and reading classic literature. His wit, wisdom and warmth will be greatly missed by those who knew him, including dear friends in EC/ASECS. He is survived by Ellen Moody, and daughters Laura, married to Robert Powers, and Isobel. Our thoughts and prayers are with his family and friends at this time.

BARBARA BRANDON SCHNORRENBERG

Barbara Schnorrenberg died Thursday, October 10th, at the age of 82, of complications of breast cancer. A longstanding member of SEASECS, she served the society in many capacities, most recently as a member of the editorial board of New Perspectives in the Eighteenth Century, the society’s annual journal, where she reviewed manuscripts and contributed articles and book reviews. Samia Spencer, editor of the journal, reports that a copy of an article was found on her printer after she died. She was, first and foremost, a feminist historian, with a particular interest in women’s place in the history of the Church of England in the eighteenth century. Outside SEASECS and ASECs, she was foundational in establishing the Episcopal Women’s History Project and participated in the Historical Society of the Episcopal Church. Those of us who were fortunate enough to know her well remember her as being academically rigorous, collegially generous, and fiercely kind. It is hard to believe that that strong force has now been stilled.

We extend our sympathy to her husband John, whom many of us know, and her children David and Katharine.

Martha F. Bowden, Kennesaw State University

The Burney Society sadly announces the passing of two of its longtime members and dear friends Lars Troide, editor of the Early Journal and Letters of Fanny Burney, and Hester Davenport, author of Faithful Handmaid: Fanny Burney at the Court of King George III and The Prince’s Mistress: A Life of Mary Robinson. Hester was the president of the UK Burney Society and organized its most recent conference this past July. Both scholars made significant and lasting contributions to Burney scholarship; they were kind generous friends and colleagues who will long be remembered by all who knew them.

Graduate Student Caucus News
by Sarah Schuetze, University of Kentucky

Happy Fall, Everyone!

Another new semester, another crop of new graduate students in our departments and, most importantly, in GSC. All signs point to Williamsburg!

The GSC will be busy at the 2014 Annual Meeting. Ash Kramer, the new Co-Chair of the GSC and a grad student from USC, will chair the GSC-sponsored scholarship panel. It’s sure to be a fascinating panel: “How Matter Matters in the Long Eighteenth Century.” As GSC Chair, I’m chairing this year’s professionalization roundtable, which promises to be an interesting discussion: “Going Rogue: The Merits and Perils of Breaking with Professional Conventions.” Professor Michelle Burnham will chair the GSC Seminar called “Geographies of Transatlantic Writing.” The format of this panel will foster conversation between the graduate student presenters and the faculty respondents with whom Prof. Burnham has matched the students. We’re excited to share a handful of grad student-chaired/organized panels at the next ASECS Annual Meeting in Williamsburg, VA. Some of our GSC members have organized some great panels:

Kate Ozment, “Violence, Gender, and Sexuality in Eighteenth-Century Literature”
Molly Perry, “Editor, Compiler, Author: Eighteenth-Century Newspapers and their Printers”
Kevin Sedeno Guillen (panel organizer), “Natural Landscapes and Spectral Indians: Natural History Discourses in Eighteenth-Century Americas”
Morgan Vanek, Imperial Weather”

Be sure to check them out!

As you are in contact with presenters on panels that you’re chairing, encourage any graduate students to look for GSC events and the opportunity to get involved. At the GSC Luncheon in Cleveland, we had a drawing for a gift card from Ashgate donated by a faculty member and friend of the GSC. His generosity got us thinking…why not do this each year? If you are a faculty member with a recent book you’d like to donate or you represent a press that would like to contribute books and/or gift cards for a drawing at this year’s luncheon, please get in touch with Sarah Schuetze at sarah.schuetze@uky.edu.

Now that the call-for-papers deadline has come and gone, we are beginning the Fliegelman Award process. At the last Graduate Student Caucus meeting, we voted on limiting the number of letters of support to five (to be mindful of our volunteer readers’ time) and clarifying the voting criteria.

Strength of letters
Service to student-run organizations
Assistance in students’ professionalization
Strength of teaching record
Accessibility to students
Investment in student’s professional and scholarly growth
Engagement with students’ scholarly work (without being prescriptive)
Demonstration of excellence in mentorship

To nominate a faculty member for the Jay Fliegelman Award for Excellence in Mentorship, contact Ash Kramer at ashleyckramer@gmail.com.

CONFERENCE REPORTS AND NEWS

American Antiquarian Society
The American Antiquarian Society (AAS) is the leading archive in the United States for research in pre-twentieth-century U.S. history, literature, and culture. In addition to unsurpassed resources focused on the history and culture of the United States, AAS holds rich collections of materials dealing with Canada, Latin America, and the Caribbean. AAS collections focus on all aspects of American life from contact to 1876, and provide rich source material for projects across the spectrum of early American studies. AAS invites you to discover these resources as a visiting academic research fellow.

The American Antiquarian Society offers both short-term and long-term research fellowships, tenable for periods of one to twelve months during the period June 1, 2014 to May 31, 2015. Short-term research fellowships are tenable for periods of one to two months’ residence at the Society, with a monthly stipend of $1,850. Long-term fellowships, supported by funding from the National Endowment for the Humanities, support periods of four to twelve months’ residence at the Society. The application deadline for these fellowships is January 15, 2014.

Further information about the Society’s fellowship programs, along with application materials, is available on the AAS website, at http://www.americanantiquarian.org/fellowships.htm. Any questions about the fellowship may be directed to Paul Erickson, Director of Academic Programs at AAS, at perickson@mwa.org.

On November 1-2, 2013, the Center for Historic American Visual Culture at the American Antiquarian Society will host a conference titled “Poignant Prospects: Landscape and the Environment in American Visual Culture, 1750-1890.” The conference will feature presentations from scholars in history, literature, art history, environmental studies, and historic preservation. The keynote address, on the evening of Friday, Nov. 1, will be delivered by Aaron Sachs, Associate Professor of History and American Studies at Cornell University. A full program and registration details can be found at http://www.americanantiquarian.org/chavic2013.

Bibliographical Society of America

BSA announces The St. Louis Mercantile Library Prize in American Bibliography. Funded by the St. Louis Mercantile Library at the University of Missouri, St. Louis, an institutional member of the Society, this prize is intended to encourage scholarship in the bibliography of American history and literature. Awarded every three years, the prize brings a cash award and a years membership in the Society. The deadline for submissions for the 2014 award is 1 November 2013. For more information please visit the Society’s website at http://www.bibsocamer.org/

BSA also announces its 2014 Fellowship Program

Application Deadline: December 15, 2013

The BSA invites applications for its seventh annual Katharine Pantzer Senior Fellowship in Bibliography and the British Book Trades as well as its annual short-term fellowship program, all of which support bibliographical inquiry and research in the history of the book trades and in publishing history. Eligible topics may concentrate on books and documents in any field, but should focus on the book or manuscript (the physical object) as historical evidence. Such topics may include establishing a text or studying the history of book production, publication, distribution, collecting, or reading. Thanks to the generosity of donors, certain special fellowships support research in particular areas of study. Applicants should therefore read the fellowship titles and guidelines here to determine project eligibility and fit. Please note: these fellowships do not support enumerative bibliography (i.e. the preparation of lists). Individuals who have not received support in the previous five years will be given preference. All fellowships require a project report within one year of receipt of the award, and a copy of any subsequent publications resulting from the project, to be sent to the BSA.

Fellowships:

- The Senior Katharine Pantzer Fellowship ($6,000); Supports research in topics relating to book production and distribution in Britain during the hand-press period as well as studies of authorship, reading and collecting based on the examination of British books published in that period, with a special emphasis on descriptive bibliography.

- The BSA-ASECS Fellowship for Bibliographical Studies in the Eighteenth Century ($3,000); Recipients must be a member of the American Society for Eighteenth-Century Studies at the time of the award.

- The BSA Fellowship in Cartographical Bibliography ($3,000); Supports projects dealing with all aspects of the history, presentation, printing, design, distribution and reception of cartographical documents from Renaissance times to the present, with a special emphasis on eighteenth-century cartography.

- The Folter Fellowship in the History of Bibliography ($2,000); Supports projects in the history and development of bibliography and/or the book trade before 1900.

- The Katharine Panzer Fellowship in the British Book Trades ($2,000); Supports bibliographical inquiry as well as research in the history of the book trades and publishing history in Britain.

- The McCorison Fellowship for the History and Bibliography of Printing in Canada and the United States: the Gift of Donald Oresman ($2,000).

- The Reese Fellowship for American Bibliography and the History of the Book in the Americas ($2,000).

- BSA General Fellowships ($2,000); The Society also offers a number of unnamed fellowships supporting bibliographical research as described above.

NOTE: This year the Society has introduced an on-line application form as a simpler alternative to e-mail or postal promote the study of early Caribbean literary history. The ECS will host its third symposium in London, England to follow on the successful symposiums of the Early Caribbean Society (ECS) held in Barbados in 2011 and Puerto Rico in 2012. The 2013 ECS symposium will take place immediately following the Society of Early Americanists conference on “London and the Americas, 1492-1812,” which will be held in London on July 17-19, 2014. Attendees can sign up for the SEA conference, the ECS symposium, or both events through one registration process.

The SEA conference and the ECS symposium will take place on Kingston University’s campus in South West London, a 25-minute train ride from central London and a short bus ride from Heathrow Airport. Housing options will include university dormitories as well as a diverse array of local hotels. Plans for outings are in the works.

Historians of Eighteenth-Century Art and Architecture

HECAA has a number of panels lined up for various venues. At next year’s ASECS in Williamsburg, it will sponsor “Selfhood and Visual Representation in the Eighteenth Century,” chaired by Amy Freund, Texas Christian University, and Jessica Fripp, Catholic University and the HECAA Schroder New Scholars’ Panel, chaired by Denise Amy Baxter, Univ of North Texas. At next year’s College Art Association conference in Chicago (19 – 22 February 2014), it will also sponsor a panel, “After the Secular: Art and Religion in the Eighteenth Century,” chaired by Kevin Chua, Texas Tech University. The society will soon sponsor its first Canadian panel at the UAAC-AAUC conference in Banff, Alberta, (18–20 October 2013), an open panel on 18C art chaired by Christina Smyliopoulos.

HECAA is now offering publication subvention grants in the amount of $500 apiece to HECAA members to pay for the cost of photographic rights. The first such grant was awarded to Tara Zanardi, CUNY-Hunter College, for her forthcoming book on fashion, nationalism, and gender in late eighteenth-century Spain.

Canadian Society of Eighteenth-Century Studies

The proceedings of the 2011 conference, Lumen, vol. XXXII, edited by Peter Walmsley & Emily West, have recently been published (2013). Copies are available through the CSECS website (http://csecs.ca/lumen/ which leads to http://lumen.erudit.org/?lang=en).

The 2014 CSECS conference will be held in conjunction with ECSSS at l’Université du Québec à Montréal October 15-18. The conference organizer is Pascal Bastien.

2015 CSECS will be at Simon Fraser U., Vancouver/Burnaby, BC, and for those who want to mark their calendars 2016 CSECS may be penciled in for Queen’s in Kingston, Ontario.

Early Caribbean Society

ECS looks forward to its third symposium July 20-22, 2014 at Kingston University in London.

Following on the successful symposiums of the Early Caribbean Society (ECS) held in Barbados in 2011 and Puerto Rico in 2012, the ECS will host its third symposium in London, England to promote the study of early Caribbean literary history. The conference will conclude with a drinks reception at the college dormitories as well as a diverse array of local hotels. Plans for outings are in the works.

Samuel Johnson Society of the Central Region

The next meeting of the Johnson Society of the Central Region will be hosted by David Brewer at Ohio State University on April 4–5, 2014. and will feature Eve Tavor Bannet as the guest speaker. In addition to engaging talks, there will be an opportunity to handle and explore some of Ohio State’s (quite good and scandalously under-known) eighteenth-century collections, a convivial reception, a dinner on Friday night, a lunch on Saturday, and after-dinner drinks on Saturday. Columbus is a good town for eating, so Saturday dinner will be up to the attendees, but a number of recommendations will be provided (and the society promises to do its best to provide rides for those who will not have cars). Inquiries for more information can be directed to David Brewer (brewer.126@osu.edu) or Stephen Karian, Secretary/Treasurer of the Johnson Society (karians@missouri.edu).

Hosts and venues for SJSCR’s two subsequent meetings have already been selected: George Justice will host the 2015 meeting at Arizona State, and Vivavsan Soni will convene the 2016 at Northwestern.

Samuel Johnson Society of the West

The Samuel Johnson Society of the West will hold its annual dinner meeting at the facility in which it first convened thirty years ago: the Dorothy Chandler Pavilion, at the Music Center,
Los Angeles. Actor Richard Fancy will be speaking on “The Actor and the Editor.” The evening will include a period inspired meal with musical entertainment by harpist Jerry Ripley. The social hour, with lively conversation in the spirit of Samuel Johnson's Literary Club, will begin at 6:00 p.m. Reservations for this event are due by November 8 and all are welcome. Please contact Myron Yeager at yeager@chapman.edu if you wish to attend.

Northeast ASECS
The NEASECS 2014 will be held in Syracuse, sponsored by Syracuse University and hosted by Amy Wyngaard (French, Syracuse University) October 25-28.

At its recent meeting in New Haven the society elected new officers. Lisa Berglund (English, Buffalo State University) is the president for 2014, succeeding Catherine Gallouët (French, Hobart and William Smith), who now becomes our Past President. Melissa Bissonette (English, St. John Fisher College), who was already the society's Webmaster, was elected to the post of Secretary-Treasurer, succeeding Nancy Johnson (English, SUNY at New Paltz), who has served as Secretary-Treasurer since 2006 but now, as chair of her department, feels that she cannot continue. Jean-Marc Kehrès (French, Trinity College) was elected First Vice President and will succeed to the presidency in 2015 and is responsible for finding a site for the 2015 annual meeting. Peter Sabor (English, McGill University) was elected second vice president and three members of our Executive Board. Finally Eric Klauss (German, Hobart and William Smith Colleges) was elected to the Society's board.

NEASECS voted to postpone awarding the Edna Steeves Prize to give graduate students a month to submit their papers. It also voted to increase the amount of the John H. O'Neill Bursaries (5 of them, awarded to graduate students at the discretion of the conference chair) from $300 to $500.

Society for the History of Authorship, Reading, and Publishing (SHARP)
The SHARP 2013 conference that took place in Philadelphia, primarily at the University of Pennsylvania, this past July was a resounding success and featured a number of innovative panel formats, a rich array of workshops and pre-conference tours, an impressive list of speakers, and a digital showcase of projects and tools of interest to those working in manuscript, print, and digital cultures. A write-up of the showcase can be found at http://wp.me/pxiTA-Sw. SHARP is known for its conferences, and the 2014 annual meeting at Antwerp promises to be another intellectually stimulating and culturally enriching conference experience.

South Central Society for Eighteenth-Century Studies
SCSECs offers a $300 award for a deserving graduate student who will be presenting a paper at the annual meeting. Applications are due by January 24, 2014. The recipient will be notified before the conference and receive the award at the conference’s closing banquet. Applicants must be currently participating in a graduate program or within one year of having received a doctoral degree and without full-time employment and have a proposal accepted before applying. The recipient is expected to engage fully in the conference, attending the majority of sessions and plenary addresses. Applicants should include a statement of need, an explanation of other funding, a brief CV, and a draft of the paper to be presented. Send your application to Past President Frieda Koening at FOL_FCK@SHSU.EDU.

Western Society for Eighteenth-Century Studies
Those interested in attending the WSECS meeting at UC Davis on the 14th-15th of February 2014 will soon find the program and information about accommodations, Davis, and nearby daytrips for the long Presidents' Day weekend on the conference website: http://www.moosblues.net/wsecs2014.html

CALLS FOR PAPERS
Burney Society

Plenary speakers will be Prof. Misty Anderson (University of Tennessee) and Prof. Juliet McMaster (University of Alberta).

“To treat any object, work or product ‘as’ performance—a painting, a novel, a shoe, or anything at all—means to investigate what the object does, how it interacts with other objects or beings, and how it relates to other objects or beings. Performances exist only as actions, interactions and relationships.”—Richard Schechner

Performance studies is an interdisciplinary field of inquiry that posits that every human action or event can be examined in light of the elements that create it and the effect it has on participants and witnesses. In addition to the usual things we consider «performance» (theatrical works, dance, musical recitals, etc.), acts and events as various as the Warren Hastings Trial, attendance at Ranalegh, and even the operating table can be understood as containing performative elements worthy of examination.

In the eighteenth century, few authors surviving bodies of life and work provide a richer field of possible sites for the study of performance than that of Frances Burney and her family. Growing up in a family of ambitious musicians, dramatists, well-traveled memoirists, and a schoolmaster/priest, Burney herself grew up keenly aware of her every act and how it might be viewed.

With this in mind, the Burney Society invites submissions on any aspect of Frances Burney or her family’s life or work in the context of performance, including papers that focus on Burney in conjunction with her contemporaries.

Papers could assess:
- the performative nature of the journals and life-writing
- prefatory and other material as performances of authorship
- rituals and various mannered performances of the Court years
- elements of performance in the novels
Please submit your most welcome paper to the respective panel. This year’s deadline for proposals is November 30, 2013. Addresses are shown below.

1. Religion in the Age of Enlightenment. Chair: Brett McInelly, Brigham Young University (brett_mcinelly@byu.edu).

Executive Board of SEAESCS also announces its new “Undergraduate Teaching Prize” to be given for the first time at our fortieth annual meeting in Knoxville, Tennessee (February 27-March 1, 2014). A committee will award $1,200 to the member who proposes the best undergraduate panel for the conference, with the monies to be used at least in part to help the participating undergraduate students with expenses related to attending the conference. Submissions should consist of a letter of presentation from the member proposing the panel and a one-page talk proposal from each of the three or four undergraduate presenters. Please send your submission electronically to Mary McAlpin, mmcalpin@utk.edu, by October 31, 2013.

ASECS Awards and Prizes

In keeping with its mission, ASECS sponsors a number of awards to recognize achievement in scholarship and to assist members to pursue their research. Included below are guidelines for competitions.

Unless otherwise noted, all applications should be submitted to Byron R. Wells, Executive Director, (Name of Prize), ASECS, PO Box 7867, Wake Forest University, Winston-Salem, NC 27109; Telephone: (336) 727-4694; E-mail: ASECS@wfu.edu

Travelling Jam-Pot: Fund for Graduate Students

Among the best-- and customarily youngest-- of our colleagues are graduate students, whose presence and voices we welcome at ASECS meetings. Their presence is vital to the continued success not just of ASECS as an organization but of our studies; these are the professors of the near future who will make “the long eighteenth century” live for countless students of the 21st century. Institutions, finding themselves strapped for funds, are economizing on grants to graduate students. Many young scholars can no longer obtain travel grants for appearances at conferences.

Award recipients are ABDs and PhDs within a year after receiving doctoral degree. An award of up to $300 will be given toward the cost of attending the ASECS annual meeting. Four (4)
Applications must include an abbreviated curriculum vita that lists achievements relevant to the project, a three to five page proposal outlining the project, a two page bibliography of pertinent works, two letters of recommendation sent directly by the referees to the ASECS office, and a budget explaining the candidate’s plans for using the funds. The winner will be asked to submit a brief written report on the progress of the project one year after receiving the award, and whenever possible, will serve on the Award committee in the following year. Award winners will be requested to acknowledge this grant's support in the publication that results from the project. The prize winner will be announced at the ASECS annual meeting and the Women’s Caucus Luncheon.

Send FIVE COPIES of eligible proposals directly to the ASECS office, (please indicate name of the prize). Submissions must be received by January 15, 2014.

Clifford Prize

The James L. Clifford Prize goes to the author of an article on an outstanding study of some aspect of eighteenth-century culture, interesting to any eighteenth-century specialist, regardless of discipline. It carries an award of $500.

Rules:
- The article should be no longer than 15,000 words.
- The article must have appeared in print in a journal, festschrift, or other serial publication between July 2012 and June 2013.
- The article may be nominated by a member of the society, by its author, or by an editor of the publishing journal.
- Self-nominations are limited to one article per year.
- Nominations may be submitted in pdf format with one hard copy sent to the ASECS Business Office; if you elect to send hard copies, nine (9) copies are needed. All submissions must be received in the ASECS office no later than 1 January 2014.
- The author must be a member of the ASECS at the time of submission.

Catharine Macaulay Prize Competition

The Catharine Macaulay Prize is an annual award made by the Women's Caucus of ASECS for the best graduate student paper on a feminist or gender studies subject presented at the ASECS Annual Meeting or at any of the regional meetings during the academic year. In addition to special recognition, the prize carries a cash award of $350.

To be eligible for the prize, papers must advance understanding of gender dynamics, women’s experience, and/or women's contributions to eighteenth-century culture, or offer a feminist analysis of any aspect of eighteenth-century culture and/or society.

The deadline for submission is May 1, 2014. The paper you submit for the prize should be the one you presented at the conference without expansion or significant revision. Submissions for the Catharine Macaulay Prize must be sent directly to the ASECS office for consideration or as an email attachment (Word):  asecs@wfu.edu). The winner of the prize will be notified soon after the committee has made its decision and will be announced at the following year's annual meeting and the Women’s Caucus luncheon.

Emilie Du Châtelet Award

The Émilie Du Châtelet Award is an annual prize of $500, made by the Women's Caucus of ASECS to support research in progress by an independent or adjunct scholar on a feminist or Women's Studies subject. The award is open to the members of ASECS by an independent or adjunct scholar on a feminist or gender studies subject presented at the ASECS Annual Meeting or at any of the regional meetings during the academic year. In addition to special recognition, the prize carries a cash award of $350.

To be eligible for the prize, projects must advance understanding of women's experiences and/or contributions to eighteenth-century culture or offer a feminist analysis of any aspect of eighteenth-century culture and/or society. Applications must include a curriculum vitae, a 1-3 page research proposal outlining the project and the candidate’s plans for using the funds, and any evidence of progress on this project (i.e. an accepted conference paper, a related publication, an essay submitted for publication, etc.).

The winner will be asked to submit a brief written report on the progress of the project one year after receiving the award, and wherever possible, will serve on the Award committee in the following year. The prizewinner will be announced at the ASECS annual meeting. Submissions for the Émilie Du Châtelet Prize must be sent directly to the ASECS office and be received by January 15, 2014, for consideration.

Send FIVE COPIES of eligible proposals. The winner will be announced at the Women’s Caucus Luncheon and during the annual meeting.

Louis Gottschalk Prize

This prize is for an outstanding historical or critical study on the eighteenth century and carries an award of $1,000. Louis Gottschalk (1899-1975) second President of ASECS, President of the American Historical Association, and for many years Distinguished Service Professor at the University of Chicago, exemplified in his scholarship the humanistic ideals that this award is meant to encourage.

Rules:

All scholarly books, including commentaries, critical studies, biographies, collections of essays by a single author and critical editions, written in any modern language are eligible. Books that are primarily translations and multiauthored collections of essays are not eligible.

- To be eligible for this year’s competition, a book must have a copyright date between November 2012 and October 2013.
- The author must be a member of the Society at the time of submission.
- Submission must be made by the publisher, and five copies must be received by 15 November 2013.

(Please indicate name of prize)

Oscar Kenschur Book Prize - 2013

The Center for Eighteenth-Century Studies at Indiana University is pleased to announce its annual book prize, to be awarded for an outstanding monograph of interest to eighteenth-century scholars working in a range of disciplines. The prize honors the work of Oscar Kenschur, professor emeritus of comparative literature at Indiana University, a dix-huitièmiste par excellence, and one of the founding members of the Center.

Submissions in English from any discipline are welcome; authors can submit their work irrespective of citizenship. Multi-authored collections of essays and translations, as well as books by members of the Bloomington faculty, are not eligible.

The Kenshur prize of $1000 will be awarded together with an invitation to the Center for Eighteenth-Century Studies for a workshop dedicated to the winning book, in which several colleagues will discuss the book from different disciplinary perspectives. The Center will cover the author’s expenses to attend this event.

To be eligible for this year’s competition, a book must carry a 2013 copyright date. Submissions can be made by the publisher or the author: three copies must be received at the ASECS office by the 31st of January 2014.

Please send the books (clearly marked for Kenschur Prize). For further inquiries please contact Professor Rebecca Spang, Director of the Center for Eighteenth-Century Studies at Indiana University (email rjspang@indiana.edu).

Graduate Student Research Paper Award

Recognizes the pioneering research contributions of the next generation of scholars of eighteenth-century studies, this $200 award will recognize an outstanding research essay of 15-30 pages, which has not been previously published.

Four (4) copies of the submission as well as a letter of endorsement from a mentoring professor, which outlines the originality and contributions that the essay makes to the field of eighteenth-century studies. The deadline for applications is January 1, 2014 and the announcement of the winner will be made at the annual meeting.

2013-14 Graduate Student Conference Paper Competition

The ASECS Executive Board offers an award of $200 for the best paper presented by a graduate student at the ASECS Annual Meeting (Williamsburg) (regional meetings do not qualify).

Papers submitted for this award may be no longer than 2500 words plus notes. Papers exceeding this length will be disqualified. Entries must be sent via e-mail to the Business Office (asecs@wfu.edu) no later than Monday, March 24, 2014.

The Biennial Annibel Jenkins Biography Prize

The biennial Annibel Jenkins Prize is given to the author of the best book-length biography of a late seventeenth-century or eighteenth-century subject and carries an award of $1,000. The prize is named in honor of Annibel Jenkins, Professor of English (Emerita) at the Georgia Institute of Technology. A founding member of the Southeastern American Society for Eighteenth-Century Studies, she was an outstanding teacher and scholar who was for many years one of the most active and encouraging members of the academic community in America.

Rules:

- To be eligible for this year’s competition, a book must have a copyright date between 2013 and 2014.
- The author must be a member of the Society at the time of submission.
- Submission must be made by the publisher, and FIVE COPIES must be received by 15 November 2014.

Dora Wiebenson Graduate Student Prize

HECAA (Historians of Eighteenth-Century Art and Architecture) offers its Wiebenson Prize for the best graduate student paper presented during the previous calendar year at a scholarly conference or as a sponsored lecture. Honorable mention is an option for papers of distinction that do not win the prize. Winners must be HECAA members in good standing. Deadline for submissions is February 15th. Prize is awarded at the HECAA annual luncheon and business meeting at ASECS. For more information, please consult Enfilade, HECAA’s online newsletter.

The Pilar Sáenz Annual Student Essay Prize is awarded to the best essay dealing with eighteenth-century Spain, Portugal or Ibero-America. The prize is open to graduate students enrolled in a North American university. Advanced undergraduate work could be considered provided it is accompanied by the recommendation of their professor. Students should submit, in one mailing, the following items:

(1) three anonymous copies of their essay, typed, double spaced; no longer than 22 pages including notes
(2) a cover sheet indicating the title
(3) a sealed envelope with the name of the author, the school name, address and e-mail address.

The winner will receive
(1) $250.00
(2) a one-year subscription to the journal Dieciocho
(3) a two-year membership in the IASECS

The revised version of the essay will be considered for publication in Dieciocho.

All entries received between January 1st and December 31st will be considered for the following year’s prize. The IASECS Essay Prize Committee will announce the award at the ASECS annual meeting.

Submissions for Annual Student Prize should be sent to:

Professor Enid Valle
Attn: IASECS Annual Student Prize
Department of Romance Languages and Literature
1200 Academy Street
Kalamazoo College
Kalamazoo, MI 49006

The María Salgado Student Travel Grant: IASECS offers up to a maximum of $400 to graduate students from North American universities who will be presenting a paper focused on eighteenth-century Spain, Portugal, or Ibero-America, at the American Society for Eighteenth Century Studies (ASECS) national annual meeting. To inquire about availability of funds contact valle@kzoo.edu. The funds will be granted and disbursed upon submission of receipts no later than two weeks after the national conference.

For inquiries contact valle@kzoo.edu.

The Mozart Society of America, an affiliate society of ASECS, invites nominations for its Marjorie Weston Emerson Award. A prize of $500 will be awarded annually for the best scholarly work in English related to Mozart to have been published during the preceding calendar year. Eligible works include books, essays, or editions. The selection will be made by a committee of Mozart scholars and performers appointed by the President of the Mozart Society of America, with approval from the Board of Directors. Works may be submitted for consideration by the author or nominated by committee members or outside scholars. Deadline for nominations will be 1 May (or as determined by the committee and President). The award will be presented at the Society’s annual business meeting in the fall and announced in the January issue of the Society’s Newsletter.

Hans Turley Prize in Queer Eighteenth-Century Studies

The Hans Turley Prize will be awarded annually for the best paper on a topic in Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender, or Queer Studies delivered at the ASECS annual meeting by a graduate student, an untenured faculty member, or an independent scholar. In addition to recognition, the prize will carry a modest cash award. The prize committee will consist of senior (and therefore ineligible) faculty members of the ASECS Lesbian and Gay Caucus, which Hans Turley helped to found. The deadline for submitting papers delivered at the 2013 Annual Meeting is August 15, 2013. The paper you submit for the prize should be the one you presented at the conference without expansion or significant revisions. The prizewinner will be notified after the committee has made its decision and recognized at the following year’s annual meeting as well as in the summer or fall news circular.

The Maria Salgado Student Travel Grant: IASECS offers up to a maximum of $400 to graduate students from North American universities who will be presenting a paper focused on eighteenth-century Spain, Portugal, or Ibero-America, at the American Society for Eighteenth Century Studies (ASECS) national annual meeting.
Keep ASECS Alive and Growing

The primary mission of the American Society for Eighteenth-Century Studies is to advance the study and teaching of the eighteenth-century and encourage scholarly work that crosses the boundaries between different academic disciplines. To achieve this, a number of endowed funds have been established from which awards are made to recognize achievements in scholarship and teaching and to assist members needing to travel to special collections or wishing to spend a residency at a major research library with which ASECS sponsors a joint fellowship. These programs are not funded through the regular operating budget of the Society but are made possible exclusively by the generosity of our members. All contributions are tax-deductible and will be acknowledged in writing. Please consider making a gift that will allow ASECS to maintain and expand the opportunities and benefits offered to its membership.
